WILL CURB POWER OF THE SPEAKER

Legislature Reassembles Next Monday. Committees Will be Named and a Complete Set of Rules Presented to Expedite Consideration of Bills.

By ROBERT HAIGHT.

Harrisburg, Jan. 14.

With almost each member of the Pennsylvania legislature trying to outdo the other with professions of reform and progressiveness, both houses have succeeded in perfecting an organization by the election of their respective presiding officers. It is true that this was not accomplished until time-honored precedents had been battered down in the wave of progressiveness that is at present rampant throughout the country. For example, the senate sidestepped the holding of the caucus of the Republican members, although the Democrats stuck to their party precedent in this respect, while the house passed a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee on committees which in reality strips the speaker of all of his powers and allows him only the privilege of interpreting the set rules which will be reported to the house for adoption after the recess.

Judging from the actions of the members every party and faction favored the adoption of this resolution, although the Democrats claimed that as presented it tended to keep them in the minority in regard to the distribution of committee assignments and the disposal of patronage. However, the resolution was adopted by which the regular Republicans secured four members of the committee on committees; the Washington party adherents, four members, and the Democrats got three members. This body was delegated with the powers of selecting tentative committees to carry on the work of the house, which list will be presented to the whole membership for ratification when it convenes on Jan. 20. A complete set of rules for the government of house procedure will be presented at the same time, and judging from all appearances these will be of such a nature that no member will in the future have cause for complaint that any of his bills are being held up arbitrarily.

This committee, which will in reality act as a steering committee of the house throughout the entire session, is composed of the following members: Daniel J. Shern and William H. Wilson, of Philadelphia; Charles A. Ambler, of Montgomery, and George W. Allen of Pittsburgh, stalwart Republicans; Samuel B. Scott, Philadelphia; John R. Jones, Schuylkill; A. S. Moulthrop, Clearfield, and F. H. Rockwell, Tioga, Washington party or independent Republican, and E. R. Benson, McKean; John T. Matt, Bedford, and John M. Flynn, of Elk, as the Democratic representatives.

Forty-one committees of the house are provided for in the resolution, and because of the unusually large number of new members it is an exceedingly hard task to select the members who will be most useful on these respective bodies. Of course the most important chairmanship is that of the appropriations committee, which has the apportionment of the entire appropriations of the state in its hands. This body needs the guidance of an experienced legislator probably more than any other body in the house, as the work is very complex. For the past two sessions its deliberations have been presided over by James F. Woodward, of Allegheny county, who was not returned as a member this time. Some speculations have it that either George W. Allen, of Allegheny, or Josiah Howard, of Cameron county, would make available timber, but it is not known that either of them would welcome the thankless task that is presented. The latter has long been a member of the house, and in the past has guided the destinies of the ways and means committee and the committee on education in the original school code fight, and by many it is thought that he will eventually be selected for appropriations this year.

Daniel J. Shern, of Philadelphia, who for several sessions past has been the Republican whip of the house, is the ranking member of the judiciary general committee, and it is not at all unlikely that he will be selected as the presiding officer of this important committee. Another Philadelphian is proposed for the chairmanship of the judiciary special committee in the person of Samuel B. Scott, a reform member for several sessions past. This is the body which in past sessions met with so much condemnation because of its being known as the "pickle committee," by reason of the number of special bills that were either smothered there or else precipitately reported out as the powers that be willed.

Considerable importance is attached to the committee on elections this year because of the fact that the bills providing for the election of United States senators and state-wide primaries will have to be considered by it before presentation to the house. Both these measures will undoubtedly lead to much opposition in the present session, as they have done in the past, as they will most lykely be opposed by the old guard Republicans and will be urged by the Democrats and Washington party adherents. John R. K. Scott, of Philadelphia, is the ranking member of the old committee, but he is somewhat averse to accepting any committee chairmanship, preferring to spend as much time on the floor looking after prospective legislation as is possible. This committee also hears all contested election cases, of which only one so far has been filed, this being the one of W. A. F. Mitchell, of Pike county, against Edwin F. Peters, Democrat, who was returned as elected. The grounds of this contest is that the sitting member has violated the corrupt practices act by stating that his expenses did not exceed $50, while the statement of the treasurer of the Democratic county committee shows that he personally contributed $159 to his campaign fund. This contest will be immediately heard after the reconvening and the announcement of the committee make-up.

The apportionment committees—judicial, senatorial, congressional and representative—will also have lots to do this session, as it is anticipated that bills providing for all of these will make their appearance at an early date. It is maintained that the passage of a congressional apportionment is mandatory on the part of the legislature this year, [illegible] to make the congressional districts conform to the last census enumeration and to obviate the necessity of electing congressmen-at-large, as was the case last year. [illegible] doubt is [illegible] to whether [illegible] attempt will [illegible] at this [illegible]

Philadelphia and Allegheny counties will gain a new congressman, while the other two members of the national house of representatives will be apportioned to the country districts.

Other committees of the house that will take up important legislation are banks and banking, corporations, judiciary local, labor and industry, law and order, municipal corporations, manufactures and ways and means. The latter will have the report of the tax commission to revise the revenue and tax laws of the state before it, and much of its time will be taken up with public hearings on the suggestions to be embodied in the report of this commission. To the labor and industry committee will be referred the bills providing for workingmen's compensation laws, employers' liability and the bills recommended by Governor Tener for the creation of a department of labor and industry. All of these are of the utmost importance and will require a great amount of consideration before being framed for presentation.

Planning For Employers' Liability.

The industrial accidents commission, which was authorized by the last legislature to delve into this subject and report back its findings to the present legislature, has prepared its report and submitted it for the consideration of the members. This commission investigated the subject of the prevention of industrial accidents and the compensation of injured workmen and their dependents and has drafted several acts covering these questions for adoption by the legislature. In its report the commission states that 20 per cent of all factory accidents are primarily due to the negligence of the employers or of those representing him in the superintendence; that 25 per cent are due to the negligence of the injured man himself; that 20 per cent are due to the negligence of a co-employe of the injured man, while 35 per cent are due to what may be called the hazard of the industry.

The commission further states that they have carefully looked into the law of 1905, now in force in this state, and while they were at first inclined to believe that it could be materially strengthened, they have arrived at the conclusion that little change is required in the language of the law, but what is required is its rigid and continued enforcement, or in other words it is a matter of efficient administration rather than of legislation. The report furthermore says that a fertile cause of accidents is overwork, and it recommends the reduction of hours of labor for women in industrial establishments to ten hours per day and fifty-four hours per week.

With regard to workmen's compensation, the commission says that it is indisputably right that the injured workman should be made whole at the expense of the industry, as that the industry should bear the expense of repairing a broken machine. Taking up the question of employers' liability, the commission deplores the technicalities of the laws, waste of money in lawyers' fees, etc., and says that under the system as now applied in Pennsylvania not more than one-third of the amount spent by the employer in claim department outlay ever reaches the employe, and the balance is absorbed in transmission. The compulsory compensation by employer to employe, the commission explains, requires that the employer pay directly to the injured employe or his dependents compensation for injury or for death, regardless of any fault that may have led to the accident. "This system," the commission says, "we regard as unquestionably the best. It places the penalty for dangerous conditions immediately upon the careless employer, while its rewards for vigilant care are prompt and certain."

The elective system of compensation of employer to employe enlarges greatly the common law liability of the employer. It sanctions an agreement between employer and employe for the adoption of a definite compensation plan, applicable to all cases regardless of fault, and provides that where such an agreement is in effect it shall wholly supercede the common law.

Foundation of Japan.

Every Feb. 11 is celebrated in Japan the great annual festival of Kigensetsu, the anniversary of the foundation of the empire by the first emperor, Jimmu Tenno, B. C. 660. The Japanese reckon their present era as from this date, and it was on Feb. 11, 1889, that Mutsuhito, the one hundred and twenty-first of the dynasty, promulgated the present constitution of the empire of Japan, the fundamental principle of which is clearly stated in its first article, "The empire of Japan shall be reigned over and governed by a line of emperors unbroken from ages eternal." The organization of a parliament took place in 1890, which in the Japanese reckoning would be 2550 from Jimmu's setting up his capital at Kashiwara, in the province of Yamato, which is regarded by Japanese historians as the beginning of the empire.

A Daring Ride.

During the Russo-Japanese war an officer of Cossacks offered to carry a dispatch which ten horsemen had already failed to get through. The general said that the effort was useless.

"The others have failed," the officer insisted, "because they traveled on horseback. I shall go under my horse."

The general was astonished, but the officer's offer was finally accepted. He started off in the middle of the night, strapped face downwards under his horse, which he guided by means of the bridle through the forelegs. The Japanese whistled to what they thought was a riderless horse. But the animal, egged on by blows from the officer's heels, accomplished the journey of thirty-five miles in safety.

Odd Tramway Literature.

The Liverpool tramway authorities have furnished two quaint additions to the literature of notices. Some years ago this notice was posted in the Liverpool cars: "Passengers are requested to pay no more pennies than the conductor in their presence punches holes in their tickets for." This was criticised, and another effort was made and posted: "Passengers are requested to pay no more pennies than for which the conductor in their presence punches holes in their tickets." This, too, was pronounced a failure, and the officials concluded that language had not yet been invented which would express what they felt. But don't you know exactly what the official notice means?—London Standard.

Candor by Accident.

The hostess was so weary after an inordinately long call from a bore that when he at last rose to go she was almost incapable of coherent speech, and her words in consequence changed places in her final effort at hospitality. It ran as follows: "Oh, Mr. Peters, must you stay? Can't you go?"—Lon[illegible]

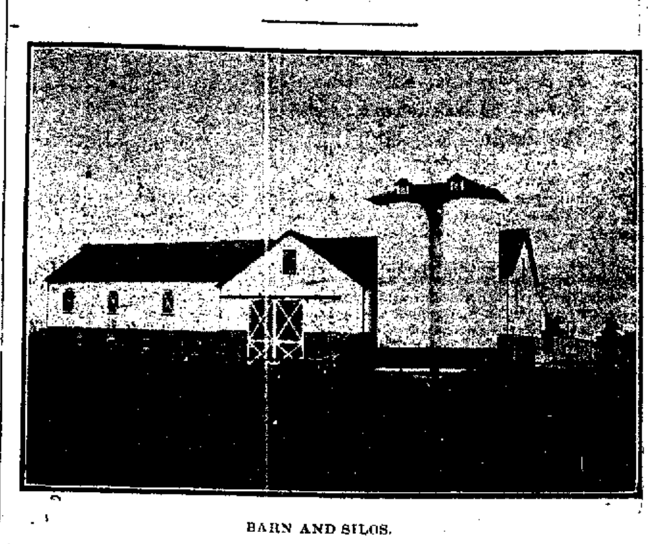
BRISTOL MODEL DAIRY FARM

The Historic Belle Meade Place, Just Outside the Town Limits, an Attractive Farm.



BARN AND SILOS.

At the Belle Meade farm, generally known as the "Bault farm," opposite the Bristol cemetery, in Bristol township, is located what is probably the finest and most sanitary dairy in the state of Pennsylvania.

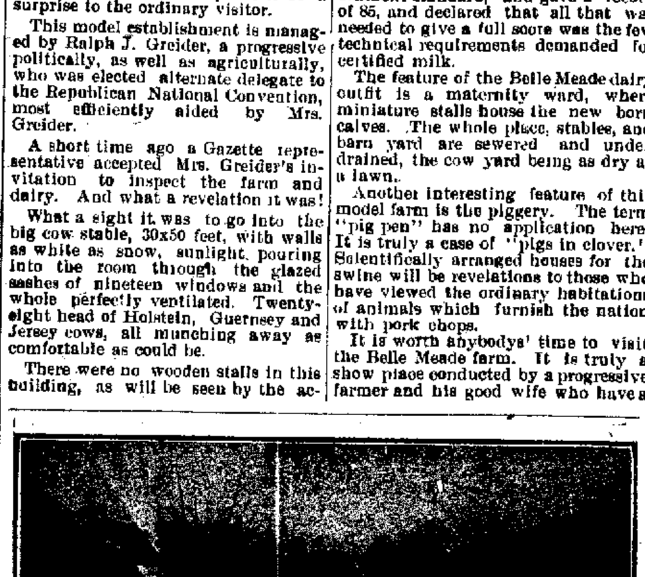
Upon this splendid farm, consisting of 186 acres, practically all under cultivation, will be found scientific farming and up-to-date dairying carried on in a manner that will prove to be a surprise to the ordinary visitor.

This model establishment is managed by Ralph J. Greider, a progressive politically, as well as agriculturally, who was elected alternate delegate to the Republican National Convention, most efficiently aided by Mrs. Greider.

A short time ago a Gazette representative accepted Mrs. Greider's invitation to inspect the farm and dairy. And what a revelation it was!

What a sight it was to go into the big cow stable, 30x50 feet, with walls as white as snow, sunlight pouring into the room through the glazed sashes of nineteen windows and the whole perfectly ventilated. Twenty-eight head of Holstein, Guernsey and Jersey cows, all munching away as comfortable as could be.

There were no wooden stalls in this building, as will be seen by the accompanying illustration. Each "stall" is represented by spaces separated one from the other by iron frame work, each animal having its place with its head through a stanchion swing, top and bottom as a swivel, the feeding being done in a lane between the two parallel lines of stalls. The floors are all concrete, with gutters for flushing with taps at convenient places for running water.

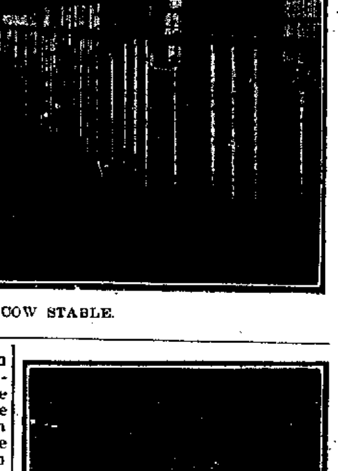


SANITARY COW STABLE.

All of the cows at the Belle Meade farm are tuberculin tested and every device known to science is adopted to preserve the purity of the milk product.

Before milking the udders of the cows are thoroughly washed, the milkers don white suits, and sanitary buckets with covered tops are used for receptacles.

After milking the milk is carried to the strainer house, a separate building which has been erected and equipped according to United States government specifications, where the milk is strained and rapidly cooled by a mechanical process to 60 degrees.



STRAINER HOUSE.

There cows are fed scientifically, and each cow's milk weighed, and a daily record kept, from which it is determined which animal is a "boarder" and which is one of profit.

Clarence B. Lane, formerly of the Agricultural Department at Washington, and lately connected with the Walter Gordon Company, visited the Belle Meade dairy and gave it an official scoring according to the government standard, and gave a record of 85, and declared that all that was needed to give a full score was the few technical requirements demanded for certified milk.

The feature of the Belle Meade dairy outfit is a maternity ward, where miniature stalls house the new born calves. The whole place, stables, and barn yard are sewered and under drained, the cow yard being as dry as a lawn.

Another interesting feature of this model farm is the piggery. The term "pig pen" has no application here. It is truly a case of "pigs in clover." Scientifically arranged houses for the swine will be revelations to those who have viewed the ordinary habitations of animals which furnish the nation with pork chops.

It is worth anybodys' time to visit the Belle Meade farm. It is truly a show place conducted by a progressive farmer and his good wife who have a deep pride in their work and have the distinction of conducting a model place.

A powerful address on temperance was delivered by Rev. J. J. D. Hall, of the Galilee Mission, Philadelphia, at St. Luke's P. E. church, Saturday evening.

The Bucks County Automobile club at its annual meeting here last week elected the following officers: President, George T. VanNorman; vice president, Dr. J. N. Richards; secretary, William R. Stuckert; treasurer, Isaac T. Vanartsdalen.

One of the saddest incidents in the borough's history occurred last Saturday, when the wife of Richard Butler died from typhoid fever. The woman was the mother of three children, one only a month old, and the family was in a most destitute condition all during her sickness, in spite of the fact that Butler makes good wages as a painter. All his money was spent on rum, and the man is at present in a dangerous mental state. It was necessary for the borough authorities to take charge of affairs, so early Sunday morning the three little ones were taken to the county alms house, and on Monday Mrs. Butler was buried in Newtown cemetery. This is surely a terrible example of the evil of alcohol and the legalized saloon, and has done much to stir the hearts of the people in their desire for its overthrow in our town.

After adjournment the entertainment committee rendered a musical programme. Refreshments were served.

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will Bristol People Learn the Importance of It.

Backache is only a simple thing at first;

But if you find 'tis from the kidneys;

That serious kidney troubles may follow;

That dropsy or Bright's disease may be the fatal end,

You will be glad to know the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Bristol citizen.

Mrs. Nelie Klein, 120 Cedar St., Bristol, Pa., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and am glad to tell of my experience. Some years ago I began to suffer from pains in my back and sides. I had often seen Doan's Kidney Pills recommended and getting a box, I used them. I began to feel better from the first and after I had finished one box, I was well. Since then I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have always helped me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

DEATH OF JUDGE MAHLON H. STOUT

Former Bucks Jurist Passes Away Our Correspondent's Review of County Seat Affairs.

Doylestown, Janua y 15

Former Judge Mahlon H Stout passed peacefully away at his residence on East Court street, last Sunday morning at half past three o'clock The immediate cause of his death was uremia

With but few exceptions the judges of our Courts for the past hundred years or more have been native born sons, and this has been especially noticeable since 1860

Judge Stout was within a few days of sixty-one years of age, having been born in Richland township March 10, 1852 His early education was obtained in the public schools and while yet a boy he showed undoubted ability. From the public schools he went to the Millersville State Normal school and after graduation there, taught in the public schools for a short time and then entered Franklin and Marshall college from which institution he graduated After his graduation he took up the study of the law with Adam J Eberly, of Lancaster He was admitted to practice in Lancaster in April 1890 and in May of the same year in the courts of his native county, Bucks.

After spending two years in the county seat he located at Bristol where he remained for nearly two years and in 1886 he returned to the county seat and formed a partnership with Hon, Richard Watson which continued until Judge Watson's death in 1901

After Judge Watson's death the health of Judge Stout's wife demanded her removal to a warmer climate and in 1888 he removed with his wife and son to Pasadena, California, where he was admitted to the bar and started active practice His son Max died the day before Christmas in 1898 and Miss Stout, who was Miss Harriet Miller, of Downingtown, Pa, died the following Christmas day

In 1888 Judge Stout was elected District Attorney over Samuel J Freed, his Democratic opponent, and in 1891 was the unanimous choice of his party to succeed himself, but was defeated by Paul H Applebach

In the spring of 1900 Judge Stout returned to Bucks county and soon after his return formed a partnership with Harvey B Kiser which lasted until Judge Stout was elevated to the bench.

As a lawyer he was faithful and diligent and in his office of District Attorney gave universal satisfaction As Judge he was careful and painstaking never rendering a decision until he was sure in his own mind that he was right He was fair, upright and able and his administration of the office was a credit to himself and the county generally

About five years ago he had his first serious illness spending a part of it in the German hospital, Philadelphia, and afterwards taking a trip to Europe in search of health On his return he made a brave attempt to fill his high position, but as he gradually became worse was obliged to call in Judge Charles Staples, of Stroudsburg, Monroe county and toward the close of his career Judge Russell Stewart, of Easton Northampton county.

About a year ago Judge Stout feeling that the business of the county was suffering, took advantage of the Judge's Retirement Act and was relieved by Governor Tener of all further duty Judge William C Ryan was appointed to fill the unexpired term

Before Judge Stout became in a condition that was deemed serious he married a second time Miss Clara N. Sutch of Harrisburg, being the other contracting party He was buried on Wednesday afternoon from Salem Reformed church, of which he was a member A large number of people paid their last respects to he Judge who had many friends in the county-seat as well as all over the county. He was an upright Judge

Is there any such thing as luck? At the county seat we have a man who has always been called a lucky man and here is the latest example of his luck His name is Seth W. Good and he is the owner of quite a number of horses with which he does a general teaming business and Monday night an unknown negro took one of his finest team horses from his stable and was seen riding him out Ashland street, evidently on his way to the New Jersey pikes, but Mr Good either could not find a bridle or was in too great a hurry and had attempted to ride the horse with the aid of the halter only. The horse threw him and in about an hour after he was stolen returned along the same street where he was captured and returned to his stable just as the Horse Company was getting ready and the telephone and telegraph were being put into active service Was this luck or what we'd?

Quite some prominence is being given to a proposed park on the New Jersey side of the Delaware river at Washington's Crossing and but little said of a similar park under consideration for the Pennsylvania side although the plans for the Pennsylvania Park have been made and are being carried out as rapidly as circumstances will permit At the last State Camp of the P O S of A a committee was appointed, upon which you will find two Bristolians, John Hardy and George Cramer, to erect a monument on the Pennsylvania side of the Delaware and in addition to bad duty they will prepare an Act of Assembly that will come before the present Legislature so that we are not so far behind our sister State, and, if our Legislature acts promptly and favorably we will get our park first

Dr James E. Groff very nearly lost his fine Hup Roadster on Sunday and also came very nearly starting a fire that would have been too much for the laddies at the county seat He had run his machine under the shedding at the Schoetz Department store and when he started to crank it on the gasoline in the carburetor got on the floor Fortunately Allen McGinty one of the crew of the chemical wagon, was on the spot and he quickly ran to the fire house, obtained an extinguisher and put the fire out with but little damage to the car. There was a high wind blowing and just in the rear of the sheds there are a lot of old frame shanties dignified by the name of barns that would have made a roaring fire and pretty near cleaned out the centre of the town The loss of the old barns would have been a blessing but the natural upshot of the fire would have been the opposite

Doylestown Encampment I O O F is steadily gathering strength and now takes its new member to Philadelphia where they can see the degree work done by a selected team, fully equipped with all of the latest costumes and paraphernalia. On Saturday night eighteen of them were taken down to Lu Lu Temple, where Cyrus Encampment's prize degree team conferred all three degrees on them and a large number of other candidates from other encampments in or near Philadelphia. The boys had a fine time.

Plans are being drawn and arrangements made for the change in the offices at the court house and when the actual change gets under way it will be a busy place indeed It seems that this absolutely necessary change and one that should have been made long ago is another item to be added to the credit side of our progressive Board of County Commissioners. It will certainly be a monument at to commemorate their administration and if the people of the county only half understood its value to them they would certainly be more thankful to the commissioners.

Next week will be shut down from present indications the week after. Subscribe to try all comers

SOMETHING THAT IS GIVING A NEW LIFE TO HUNDREDS

Modern Ailment Due to Rapid Living Reaps Large Number of Victims--Has Gone Unchecked For the Past Ten Years.

Do You Lack in Strength For Your Daily Labors?

If So, You Are in Need of Proper Treatment to Help Build Up Your Debilitated Condition to a Normal Condition- See the Specialists of the Atomo Radio Institute at the Hotel Closson, on Tuesday, January 21st- See the Wonderful Radio Demonstration-- Be Examined and Receive Your Health Back Again.

Today a large percentage of the population, particularly city dwellers, are afflicted with nervous debility or a "run down" condition, as it is called

The chief symptoms of this modern complaint are lack of vitality and energy nervousness and stomach troubles weak back poor circulation, constipation and insomnia

Old fashioned remedies failing, a modern form of treatment, (Radio) was introduced in Europe to overcome this trouble The treatment was an instantaneous success and the same treatment is now meeting with tremendous success in this country, right in the city of Easton, the treatment is called Atomo Radio, and it hurls up rundown, half-sick, tired all the time condition Are you nervous and despondent? Do you lack energy and ambition? If so, you have nervous debility and the wisest possible thing you can do is to let Atomo Radio treatment build you up and bring back your health and strength, as it has done for thousands of others You will be astonished how quickly this great modern treatment will make you feel as though you were made over

If you suffer from Liver, Kidney, Heart or Nerve Trouble, Catarrh or any other chronic disease, what you need is life's own form of Radio Electric energy And the Atomo Radio Institute of Easton is the only place in this State where you can get it, aside from inhaling it in small quantities in the air you breathe

You can also get a POSITIVE DIAGNOSIS by means of the GREAT ATOMOSCOPE When placed in front of its great globular eye, the operator is enabled to see inside your body as plain as day

This diagnosis is SURE and when the diagnosis is sure, the cure is comparatively easy The Atomo Radio treatment is a treatment for chronic diseases of men, women and children, all can take it, as it is absolutely given without pain

If you have been sick for years, if you have doctored for years, and failed to get relief, no matter what you have tried no matter how much you are discouraged, don't say that you cannot be cured until you have gone to the Atomo Radio Institute specialists and have been examined with the wonderful Atomoscope if your lungs are weak, don't give up hope and say that you have consumption and can't get well, remember there is no such word as can't remember that the Atomo Radio Institute is curing hundreds of so-called cases of consumption every year, and also bear in mind the fact that all up-to-date physicians today recognize the fact that all cases of incipient Tuberculosis can and are being cured every day

If your lungs are weak go today don't put it off till tomorrow, have your lungs examined with the great Atomoscope and make sure if your lungs are affected or not, and if they are take the RADIO treatment, NOW don't put it off ONE DAY

The Atomo Radio Institute has been in Easton for over three years, and has built up a reputation for square dealing so that you can rest assured that you will be treated right and if your trouble is an incurable one you will be frankly told as much The offices of the Atomo Radio Institute are located in suite No 404 Northampton Building, Easton, Pa

In order to save the people of Bristol and vicinity the time, trouble and car fare of a visit to Easton, the Institute sends a specialist, Dr F W. Cartwright to Bristol on Tuesday of each week, and you are invited to call on him at the Hotel Closson any time during the day from 9 a m to 6 p m and the doctor will be pleased to give you a demonstration of the wonderful Radio and a full and complete examination Don't forget the day and date of the doctor's next visit to Bristol, Tuesday, January 21st The Doctor visits the following towns on the days named and can be found at the Hotel mentioned below Tuesday, Bristol, Hotel Closson Wednesday, Newtown, Brick Hotel Thursday Doylestown, Monument House, Friday, New Hope, Delaware House

A MESSAGE TO WOMEN

Who are "Just Ready to Drop."

When you are "just ready to drop," when you feel so weak that you can hardly drag yourself about—and because you have not slept well, you get up as tired-out next morning as when you went to bed, then you need help right away

Miss Lea Dumas writes from Malone, N.Y, saying "I was in a badly run-down condition for several weeks, but two bottles of Vinol put me on my feet again and made me strong and well Vinol has done me more good than all the other medicine I ever took."

If the careworn, haggard men and women, the pale, sickly children and feeble old folks around here would follow Miss Dumas' example, they, too, would soon be able to say that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron remedy, had built them up and made them strong

It is a wonderfully strengthening and invigorating body-builder, and we sell it under an ironclad guarantee of satisfaction. You get your money back if Vinol does not help you.

AMERICAN TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO. AND ASSOCIATED COMPANIES
LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE BELL SYSTEM

About Telephone Bills

It is the Company's duty to furnish satisfactory service. To do so it maintains carefully designed and equipped buildings, a well-built plant, and a trained force of painstaking employes.

The other party is the subscriber. He also must fulfill his obligations, not the least of which is to pay for the service promptly as agreed.

By cooperating with us in this respect our subscribers are aiding in one of the many economies which, in the end, redound to their benefit in the service and the charges therefor. Every business man knows the increased cost of billing and collecting delayed accounts.

We do not discriminate. Every one is treated in the same fair manner. Every one is expected to pay promptly. Experience teaches that this undeviating course is the most satisfactory one to our subscribers.

COUNCIL DOES BUT LITTLE BUSINESS

Regular Monthly Session on Monday Was a Dull Affair.

The regular monthly meeting of the Bristol borough council held on Monday evening was a dull affair and no business of importance was transacted. Even in announcing the appointment of the standing committees for the year President Owens failed to furnish any diversion as all the assignments were the same as last year, no changes being made in the personnel of the committees.

MEAT INSPECTORS REPORT.

Dr. Haines the meat inspector, made reports for the months of November and December.

In November he inspected 191 carcasses of cattle killed in the neighborhood for local consumption, consisting of 102 swine, 13 beeves and 76 calves. One beef carcass was condemned for food on account of being infected with tuberculosis.

During December 182 postmortem examinations were made, 93 swine, 66 calves and 13 beeves. Four beef and two calf carcasses were condemned on account of tuberculosis.

POLICE REPORT

The Police committee reported that the officers made twelve arrests during December, two for assault an battery, two upon suspicion, one for desertion, one for surety of the peace and six for drunkenness. Wayfarers to the number of 172 were lodged in the station house.

FIRE COMPANY WANTS 'PHONE

Mr. Spring, in behalf of No. 5 company made appeal for a telephone to be placed in the company's headquarters. The matter was referred to the Fire committee to confer with the telephone company.

EXTENSION OF TIME GRANTED

The Delaware River Transportation Company, asked council for an extension of time until spring to pay rent due for use of Mill street wharf. The request was granted when it was shown that the company had paid $700 back rent during the month.

Rev. Hubbell's House Robbed.

The residence of Rev. Johnson Hubbell, on China Lane was ransacked by thieves one day last week. The house is closed and the family are spending the winter in the city. An entrance was effected through the cellar. A lot of clothing, also a bicycle, pistol, field glass and double barrel shot gun were stolen. The gun can easily be recognized having been made on a special order and the stock is so short and crooked that few can shoot it.

Golden Anniversary Celebrated.

Mr and Mrs. Jonathan Bailey, of Mulberry street, Bristol, on Sunday celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding. Relatives from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York gathered at their home to do honor to the important occasion, and friends and neighbors called during the day to extend congratulations. The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey presented them with $75 in gold. A big family dinner was served at noon.

Firemen Visit Bristol.

Harvey Smith, Burgess of Sellersville, headed a delegation from the fire departments of Sellersville, Perkasie and Richlandtown, in a visitation to American Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, No. 2, Sunday morning. After inspecting the headquarters they were conducted to the houses of No. 1, 3 and 5. They spoke very highly of the thorough equipment of the department in Bristol. The delegation had been in attendance at the convention of firemen held at Newtown Saturday evening.

No. 5 Company Elects Officers.

The annual meeting of Enterprise Fire Company, No. 5, of Bristol, and the name of the company is no misnomer, was held at the company's house in the Fifth ward on Thursday evening of last week. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, William Grace; vice president, Peter Wichser; recording secretary, George Wichser; financial secretary, Edgar Titus; treasurer, J. P. Stradling; foreman, Fred Hermann; assistant foreman, Earl Spangler; trustees, John A. Wichser, Thomas Burns, Joseph Buck; janitor, George Wilkinson.

O. Meyer, of Southampton Fire Company, was elected president pro tem and Mr. Hess, of Quakertown, secretary pro tem.

A committee was appointed to draw up by-laws and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Newtown Fire House during the month of February, date left to the president, to which the other twelve remaining companies in the county will be invited to send delegates. They are: Doylestown, Riegelsville, Trumbauersville, New Hope, Langhorne No. 1, Morrisville, No. 2, Chalfont, Bristol No. 1, Bristol No. 3, Ivyland and Richboro.

Early in December last the common towel was ordered abolished from railroad cars, vessels and all other interstate vehicles, and from stations, by Secretary McVeagh, of the Treasury Department, in an amendment to the interstate quarantine regulation. This action follows closely the abolition of the common drinking cup from the same on interstate carriers. Towels may be used again only after having been sterilized by boiling water.

Our Harrisburg Letter.

The Gazette has arranged with the American Press Association for the exclusive right here to print a weekly Harrisburg letter during the session of the Legislature. These letters are written by Robert Haight, of Philadelphia, one of the best informed newspaper political writers in the State. These letters will be more than a mere recording of the actions of the legislature but will deal with matters beneath the surface routine legislative work as Mr Haight has an extensive personal acquaintance with the State leaders of all factions and is in a position to give his readers many interesting sidelights of capitol affairs. His letters appear on the first page of the Gazette each week.

DIED SUDDENLY IN CHARLESTON

Dr. and Mrs. Pursell Received Message of Death of Their Daughter--Funeral Here This Morning.

Dr. and Mrs. Howard Pursell, of Bristol, were grieviously shocked last Sunday evening upon receiving a message that their elder daughter, Ethel Pursell Moore, wife of Dr. S. M. Moore, died suddenly at her home in Charleston, South Carolina.

Sunday afternoon the parents received a telegram that Mrs. Moore was dangerously ill and to come at once. An hour later a telephone message was received that their daughter was dead. Mrs. Moore was about to become a mother.

Mrs. Pursell and daughter, Miss Carolyn Pursell, left Bristol on Monday and returned to Bristol yesterday, accompanying the body here. The funeral will take place this morning at 10 o'clock, services to be held at Dr. and Mrs. Pursell's home on Radcliffe street. Interment will be made in the Bristol cemetery.

The news of Mrs. Moore's death came as a distinct shock, as V. V. Vanzant, of Bristol, a travelling salesman for the D. Landreth Seed Company, while in Charleston less than a week before the death, had spent the evening with Dr. and Mrs. Moore, and reported to the latter's parents upon his return here that their daughter was in good health and fine spirits.

Mrs. Moore, who was married in December, 1910, went to Charleston last May to make her home where her husband located in the medical profession.

The deceased was born in Bristol and resided here all her life until last spring. Besides a husband she leaves a daughter, Eleanor, seventeen months old, and parents and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Howard Pursell and Miss Carolyn Pursell.

Death of Former Bristolian.

Mrs. Katherine Bailey, formerly of Bristol, wife of Harris Bailey, daughter of Mrs. Christina Winter and of this borough and sister of the late Philip Winter, died suddenly of heart disease at her home in Tacony on Sunday. Mr. Bailey was formerly a moulder employed at the Harkins foundry. Besides her husband and mother the deceased leaves four children and also a sister, Mrs. Hannah Roundtree, of Bristol. The funeral took place on Wednesday.

Died Suddenly at the Table.

George Watkins, fifty-four years old, formerly a coachman, died suddenly of heart disease while seated at the supper table at his home on Mansion street, Bristol, last Sunday evening at 6.30 o'clock. The deceased was a native of England. He had been in ill health for several years. He was about the house as usual on Sunday, but while seated at the supper table, without a word of warning suddenly lunged forward and was dead. He leaves a widow and several children. The funeral was held on Wednesday, Rev. Holden officiating.

Death of Old Canal Bank Boss.

Ebenezer Wilson, a life long resident of Tullytown, in his 72d year, died last Monday. Up to the time of his death Mr. Wilson was in the employ of the Lehigh and Delaware Canal Company and for many years was "bank boss" in charge of the district between Morrisville and Bristol, looking after repairs to the canal bank.

He was a Civil war veteran and was formerly a member of the Bristol Grand Army Post. He served in Captain H. Clay Beatty's Company, I, Third Pennsylvania Reserves.

The deceased leaves a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Esick Lovett, of Tullytown, and Mrs. Carolin Gamble, of Bristol. The funeral was held yesterday from his late residence, near Tullytown.

Pretty Wedding at Penn's Manor.

A pretty wedding was solemnized Wednesday when Miss Maria L. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson and Edward J. Scarborough were married at the home of the bride in Penn's Manor.

The Rev. George W. Scarborough, a cousin of the groom, performed the ceremony. Miss Laura G. Patterson and John H. Patterson, a sister and brother of the bride, were the only attendants.

The bride was dressed in white satin made en train with shadow lace and pearl trimming and carried white carnations. The bridesmaid was dressed in white marquisette over blue satin with crystal trimming and carried pink carnations. Miss Irene Satterthwaite accompanist, and Benjamin Taylor Patterson, violinist, played the wedding march.

A reception and supper followed after which Mr. and Mrs. Scarborough left for a short trip. They will make their home in Penn's Manor where the groom has just erected a new house. The following guests were invited: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Patterson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Patterson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Scarborough, Mr. and Mr. John Neely and family, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Duncan, Matawan, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woolsey, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Lovett, Charles Watson, Miss Rena Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hogeland, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. P. Wetmore, of Morrisville; Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. ANNIVERSARY OF OLD BRISTOL BANK

The Farmers National, the Oldest in the County, Elects Directors--A Little History.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers Nationel Bank of Bucks county was held at the banking house in Bristol on Tuesday when the following directors were reelected: Benjamin J. Taylor, George A. Shoemaker, Charles E. Scott, A. Russell Burton, Joseph R. Grundy, Edward Winslow Clark and A. Brock Shoemaker. At a subsequent meeting of the directors Benjamin J. Taylor was re-elected president.

The annual banquet of the directors and stockholders and officials of the bank was held at the Silbert House, where a splendid menu was served, consisting of terrapin, turkey and the usual accompaniments.

The Farmers' National Bank is the oldest institution of its kind in the county and many mementos connected with the early history of the bank are still preserved, among which is the old iron bound oak chest, with its "secret" lock in which the funds of the bank were formerly stored and many of the old engraved bank notes.

The bank commenced operations in Hulmville on January 17, 1815. Just 98 years ago today.

The bank was chartered by the Legislature in 1814, being one of twenty-seven banks chartered under the same act.

The local bank had authority to issue 8000 shares at $25 a share. Governor Snyder vetoed the bill, setting forth in his veto message the danger of adding so large amount of paper as provided by the bill ($9,525,000) to the currency. The Legislature made some changes in the bill and it was finally signed by the governor.

Books were opened for the subscription of stock of the Farmers National Bank in August 8, 1814, and continued to the 19th, when the stock was all subscribed.

In 1830 the bank was moved from Hulmevile to Bristol and located in the building now occupied by Axel Swain, the Mill street baker, next to Dr. Pursell's drug store, and the oak chest that had been the safe deposit of the people's money for so many years was placed in the banking room near the window.

In 1833 the bank was moved to its present location. The building was originally built by James Craig for a summer residence in 1818 at a cost of $15,000, after the model of the old Philadelphia Custom House and was designed by the same architect. After the death of Mr. Craig it was purchased by the bank.

"LAME DUCK" GETS FAT POLITCAL JOB

Howard R. Moyer, of Quakertown, this county, the Grundy candidate for the Legislature, who was snowed under at the November election, has had the sting of defeat removed by a soothing balm that has proved so highly efficatious when applied to "lame ducks."

Mr. Moyer, who by the way obtained his knowledge of finance and banking in a Quakertown drug store, has been appointed as State Bank Examiner, by the grace of Joseph R. Grundy, to fill the position made vacant by the death of Evan R. Penrose.

Mr. Moyer has assumed the duties of his position.

BRISTOL FIREMEN'S MEMORIAL SERVICES

The Sixth Annual Service of the Bristol Department an Interesting Event.

The sixth annual memorial service of the Bristol Fire Department was held last Sunday afternoon in the Methodist church, in honor of deceased members.

The large auditorium of the church was comfortably filled and the exercises were interesting throughout. Dr. G. W. Berntheisel, of Columbia, Pa., a former President of the State Firemen's Association, made the address.

The services were conducted by Chief Franklin Gilkeson, who announced the presence of William Sulgar, now of Trenton, who is the only living charter member of Fire Company No. 1, the oldest company in the borough. Mr. Gilkeson also announced that the carnations which each member of the fire department wore in his lapel buttonhole was the gift of Jacob Schmidt, the florist, and the handsome circle of red carnations, embellished with a calla lily representing each member who died during the year, was the gift of Mrs. Emma De-Witt, the florist.

The singing of two selections by Miss Nellie Hart, of Philadelphia, was greatly appreciated by all present as was the music of the M. E. church choir, under the direction of B. Frank Connor, Jr., with Mrs. James Shipe as soloist.

The following programme was rendered: Opening hymn "Nearer My God, to Thee;" prayer, Rev. E. W. Rushton; anthem, "Abide With Me," M. E. choir; Scripture reading, Rev. S. M. Holden; vocal solo, "The Heavenly Hymn," Miss Nellie B. Hart; roll call of members, by secretary Melvin Jeffries; taps, by James Lefferts; baritone solo, B. Frank Connor, Jr.; memorial address, Dr. Berntheisel, Columbia, Pa.; vocal solo, "Forget All Thy Sorrows," Miss Nellie B. Hart; anthem, "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me," M. E. choir; hymn, "Shall We Gather at the River?"; benediction.

Those who have died during the year are: Albert Loechner, Leopold Landreth, Alva C. Johnson, Philip Winter, John Lamm, Robert Hetherington, Fred L. Wilkinson, Jacob H. White and William Fitzgerald.

In his address to the firemen, Dr. Berntheisel, of Columbia, said in part: "I assure you I am deeply impressed with the solemnity of this service. My heart has been touched with the sentiment shown at this time. We meet to perform a sad and sacred duty—to pay tribute to the memory of the boys who a short time ago fought side by side with you against fire. It was not from mercenary motives, for there is no recompense. He fights for his fellow men. That love of fellowman which actuates his being: that nature that looks danger in the face. I want it distinctly understood that I regard the volunteer firemen of today as heroes. A long time ago fires were characterized by riots and rum. The fight against fire and the prevention of loss was forgotten, and the entire fight was, 'who should get that plug,' and the fire and destruction went on. I remember a big fight at a big fire when much loss was sustained through the rioting. But all of that is changed. The volunteer firemen of today think of their fellow men and of the danger. And Bristol fire department stands second to none in the United States. While I act as secretary of the association in the State, I have a chance to know the rating. I know your rating as well as you know it. I know there is a cabinet who have the interests of the firemen at heart, and that they always rate Bristol as number one. This is not flattery, it is the truth; your department is rated high. Some departments have practically no rating at all, but I know that Bristol volunteer department leads the whole of Pennsylvania.

"When I go home this evening I carry with me a determination to accomplish something which has never been done before, I am determined that the volunteer firemen of Columbia will hold a memorial service. I will take this service home, and I warrant you we will, in the near future, have our first memorial service."

According to the statement of a professor in a German university the percentage of baldness among intellectual men is only two for musical men and sixteen for writers and others.

BRISTOLIAN'S CURE COUNTED A MIRACLE

Practically everybody in Bristol knows George L. Horn, who until a little over a year ago had conducted a meat and grocery store here for twenty-five years.

His friends also knew that for several years he has been suffering from an ailment which appeared to be paralysis of the lower limbs and that he had a large goiter in his neck.

Mr. Horn was here this week and says that he has been absolutely cured and showed that his claims were true.

The Philadelphia North American on Wednesday contained the following true account of Mr. Horn's miraculous recovery as described to Bristol friends:

Constant prayer for relief from his sufferings resulted, according to George L. Horn, a former merchant of Bristol, Pa., who now lives at 5937 Norfolk street, this city, in miraculously curing him of double goiter, or tumor of the throat, after physicians had pronounced his case hopeless.

Not only has the goiter ceased to give him pain, Horn said yesterday, but he no longer suffers from an affection of the legs that made walking difficult. Physicians who examined Horn since the cure, found that the goiter had virtually disappeared, and have asked him to appear before medical conferences.

For the last five years Horn was a sufferer from the tumorous growth. He consulted medical experts throughout the country, and tried all kinds of treatment, without avail. Two years ago a physician told him that an operation for removal of the goiter would prove fatal. In all, members of the family said yesterday, Horn spent more than $8000 in trying to cure the disease.

Throughout his sufferings he prayed unceasingly. Every night, regardless of the pain he experienced, he knelt down by his bed and asked for relief. Five weeks ago, he said, it came.

DISEASE HAS DISAPPEARED.

Horn alighted from a trolley car at Fifty-eighth and Baltimore avenue and while on his way home collapsed. Two men assisted him to his home and a few minutes after entering he places his hands to his neck and exclaimed to his wife:

"Pauline, my sufferings are gone. The goiter is gone."

Since that time, Horn says, he has experienced no pain. In the last few years of his suffering Horn's weight dropped from 145 to 121 pounds. At times he was compelled to use a cane, because of a strange affection of his legs. He moved to different parts of the country thinking that climatic conditions might give him some relief.

Mrs. Horn insisted that prayer alone effected her husband's cure. "Up to five weeks ago," she said, "my husband suffered from goiter and a malady of the legs. His legs weren't exactly paralyzed but they were in such condition that he had considerable difficulty in walking.

DOCTORS DISCUSS CURE.

"Since the goiter and other affection have ceased to give him trouble, we have begun to feel that life is worth while. During the years that my husband was suffering we constantly worried, and there was nothing but grief in the house.

"For the last year my husband went without treatment, because he became discouraged and decided to give up going to doctors. Five weeks ago he decided to come home by trolley instead of taking an elevated train. He was so weak that he didn't think he could climb up the steps of the 'L.'

"After getting off a car at Baltimore avenue and Fifty-eighth street he started home, but collapsed. Two men came along, one of whom had a broken arm. They assisted him home, and he was in the house but a short time when he called to me that his goiter was gone."

"I looked at his neck and found that the swelling which was very noticable when he left the house, had almost disappeared."

Horn's sudden improvement has aroused discussion in medical circles and among his friends in Bristol, as well as in the city.

Death of Prominent Politician.

Former postmaster and Councilman, John G. Randall, of Doylestown, one of the most prominent Democratic politicians in the county died suddenly at his home in the county seat on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Randall was born in Langhorne on December 10, 1837, and was a member of the Bristol lodge of Masons. Mr. Randall has served continuously as a member of Doylestown borough council for many years and was formerly business manager of the Doylestown Daily Democrat. He was postmaster during President Cleveland's first administration. He also at one time was elected Clerk of the Orphans court. He was a good citizen.

A Weaver's Apprentice

A certain Dean Tucker was one day strolling through a village either in Gloucestershire or Somersetshire when he carelessly entered the shop of a poor weaver. Lying there he saw an old Greek Testament dirty and well thumbed.

"How comes this here? Who reads this book?" asked the dean.

"Sir," said the weaver, "my son is always poring over books of that kind."

"Let me see him," said the dean.

The lad was called and on examination was found to have a fair knowledge of Greek and Latin. By appointment he waited upon the dean next day and was introduced to several wealthy persons of the neighborhood. They were so struck with the lad's talent and industry that a sum of money was subscribed to secure his further education. The father wisely allowed Dean Tucker to guide the boy's future, and he was sent to school at Gloucester, whence he went to Oxford. There the weaver's apprentice became the renowned Professor White, canon of Christ church and professor of Hebrew and Arabic.

Why Do Children Torture Animals?

There are in nature two counteracting tendencies, evolutionary and involutionary, progressive and retrogressive. In man the retrogressive tendency is called "atavism" and is exhibited in a tendency to return to an early type of the human being. It may be a retrogression in mental or physical characteristics, and among the former is the destructive tendency. This destructive tendency can be traced to the fundamental instinct of self preservation which seeks the destruction of everything which can serve for food or which might deprive the animal of food or endanger its life. When an animal is impelled by hunger it immediately slays its victim, but when this incentive to immediate destruction is absent it seems to find a satisfaction in putting its victim to death slowly and see it struggle. This brutish satisfaction to see an animal struggle is seen in all races before they have been affected by the restraining influence of civilization and in children before they can understand the import of the Golden Rule.—New York American.

Patient Experiment.

"What are you going to call that mule of yours, uncle?"

"Well, suh," answered the driver of the animal, "I ain' made up my mind. Ise tried all de names I could think of, an' Ise g'ineter keep on huntin' mo'. If I ever finds one he pays any 'tention to, da's what Ise g'ineter call 'im."—Washington Star.

NEW OWNERS ARE IN CHARGE OF LOCAL PLANTS

The United Public Service Company, of Scranton, Pa., the new purchasers of the East Pennsylvania Gas and Electric Company, the organization operating the Bristol Gas and Electric light and power plants, have taken possession of the properties and are now in control.

The Scranton corporation owns numerous plants of a similar character in the State and it is said many improvements will be made to the local properties and a better service rendered.

The atmospheric changes during a thunder storm accelerate the discharge of all gases, and it is now asserted that it is these, and not electrical discharges, which sour milk.

A monument will be erected in France to the memory of Hubert Latham, who was the first aviator to consider the idea of crossing the English Channel.

Shetland Ponies in Mines.

While thousands of Shetland ponies are used just as the children of the rich and kings of the United States, a much larger number are used in the English coal mines. The ponies of the English mines are not nearly so large as those of the mines in this country, and it is necessary to have very small ponies to draw the cars from the narrow passages. The only alternative would be to enlarge the passages, a plan which would entail too heavy an expense to be even considered by the English mine owners. The ponies used by the mine owners prefer to have from three inches to hands high, but four compact inches high, the old days it was little fellows. In common practice for long periods when they were not in a condition to stand hard work. But a law was passed some years ago prohibiting the use of female ponies of any age in the mines. Recently another law was passed prohibiting the use of male ponies at least four years old.—National Stockman and Farmer.

Then There Was a Row.

Now, sir, she commanded, "look me in the face and say, if you dare, that you married me for money!".

If raised his eyes until they were directed to her countenance and—fal tered:

Well I think I earned the cash, don't you, dear?"—London Mail.

Very Formal.

"Are you on very friendly terms with your neighbor in the apartments?"

"Well no She's rather formal—always sends her card when she wishes to borrow flour and if she wants both flour and sugar she sends two cards."—Washington Herald.

He Would, Indeed.

A man would say a great deal of unfavorable time if all the addresses important in his business were as easy to remember as a number of funny stories.—Washington Star.

Cynical.

Miss Yellowleaf—I'd better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all. Mr. Knox—That's a cynic where you when you lose.—Chicago News.

The Appian Way.

The famous Appian way, called Regina Viarum, "the queen of roads," is at once the oldest and most celebrated of all the highways laid down by the Romans. It linked the capital of the Caesars with all the important centers of southern Italy and was constructed or partly constructed under the Censor Appius Claudius Caecus in 312 B. C. In view of the natural obstacles presented by the route the cost of the enterprise must have been enormous. In a deep foundation from which all loose soil had been cleared were laid several strata strongly cemented and above these was placed the pavement of large hexagonal blocks of basaltic lava, fitted together with such precision that the joinings did not show.

The Limerick Variety.

Some years ago M. Paul Villars, London correspondent of the Journal des Debats, went to Limerick on the occasion of a great Nationalist meeting. On arriving at the hotel he asked for a room in the front of the house. A servant took him to a small dark room looking on to an inner courtyard. M. Villars went to the window and satisfied himself that there was a mistake.

"This is not the front of the house," said he.

"Oh, yes, sir," the servant said "it's the back of the front."

First Horse Advertisement.

The first advertisement on record refers not to soap, pills or the hundred and one other patent articles of our modern life, but to something much older and much nearer the heart of things—a lost horse. It appeared in a paper called the Moderate in the 27th of that journal, issued on March 27, 1649. It runs thus: "Reader, thou art entreated to inquire after a blue Irish and kind of piebald nag, very poor. His face, feet and flank is white and a little white tip on his tail. Wall eyes. He hath a hurt on his farther buttock and doth both rack and trot and is very fleet and full of mettle. Some fourteen handful high. About six years old. He was stolen from grass the 17th of March 1648, from one John Rotherham of Barnet in Hertfordshire sixteen miles from London. Whoever will inquire find him on and make stay of him and bring or send tidings of him shall have what content they will or can desire for their pains.—London Globe.

Bliousness Is Bad Enough

GET THESE Money-making Secrets WITH THE Farm Journal

Is this cock properly held? "Poultry Secrets" tells how to carry fowls, and other secrets far more important

FARM JOURNAL ("cream, not skim milk") is the great little paper published for 36 years in Philadelphia by Wilmer Atkinson. It is taken and read by more families than any other farm paper in the WORLD. Its four million readers (known as "Our Folks") are the most intelligent and prosperous country people that grow, and they always say the Farm Journal helped to make them so. Their potatoes are larger, their milk tests higher, their hogs weigh more, their fruit brings higher prices, because they read the Farm Journal.

Do you know Peter Tumbledown, the old fellow who won't take the Farm Journal? By showing how NOT to run a farm, Peter makes many prosperous. Nobody can go on reading the Farm Journal and being a Tumbledown too. Many have tried, but all have to quit one or the other.

The Farm Journal is bright, brief, "boiled down," practical, full of gumption, cheer and sunshine. It is strong on housekeeping and home making, a favorite with busy women, full of life and fun for boys and girls. It sparkles with wit, and a happy, sunny spirit. Practical as a plow, readable as a novel. Clean and pure, not a line of fraudulent or nasty advertising. All its advertisers are guaranteed trustworthy.

The Farm Journal gives more for the money and puts it in fewer words than any other farm paper. 32 to 80 pages monthly, illustrated. FIVE years (60 issues) for $1.00 only. Less than 2 cents a month. No one year, two year or three year subscriptions taken at any price.

The Farm Journal Booklets

have sold by hundreds of thousands, and have made a sensation by revealing the SECRETS OF MONEY-MAKING in home industry. People all over the country are making money by their methods.

POULTRY SECRETS is a collection of discoveries and methods of successful poultrymen. It gives Felch's famous mating chart, the Curtiss method of setting, one-half more pullets than cockerels, Boyer's method of insuring fertility, and priceless secrets of breeding, feeding, how to produce winter eggs, etc.

HORSE SECRETS exposes all the methods of "bishoping," "plugging," cocaine and ginseine dopings and other tricks of gyps and swindlers. It enables any one to tell an unsound horse. Gives many valuable training secrets.

CORN SECRETS, the great NEW hand book of Prof. Holden the "Corn King," shows how to get ten to twenty buskels more per acre of corn, rich, prote n, all the best stock-feeding elements. Pictures make every secret plain.

EGG SECRETS tells how a family of five can make hens turn its table scraps into daddy's pay. Fifty eggs. If you have a back yard get this booklet. Earn $1.00 to $2.00 every scrap of the kitchen waste, and live better at less cost.

THE "BUTTER BOOK" tells how seven cows were made to produce half a ton of butter each per year (140 pounds is the average). An eye opener. Get it, weed out your poor cows, and turn the good ones into record-breakers.

STRAWBERRY SECRETS is a revelation of the discoveries and methods of E. J. Farmer the famous expert in growing luscious fall strawberries almost until snow flies. How and when to plant, how to fertilize, how to remove the blossoms, how to get three crops in two years, etc.

GARDEN GOLD shows how to make your backyard supply fresh vegetables and fruit, how to cut down your grocery bills, keep a better table and get cash for your surplus. How to plant, cultivate, harvest and market.

DUCK DOLLARS tells how the great Weiser duck-farm makes Boston makes every year 20 cents in each on 40 000 duck lings. Tells why ducks pay them better than chickens and just HOW they do everything.

TURKEY SECRETS discloses Jolly the methods of Horace Vose, the famous Rhode Island turkey man, who supplies the White House Thanksgiving turkeys. It tells how to mate to get eggs to hatch, to feed, to care for the young, to prevent sickness, to fatten and how to make a turkey raise PAY.

The MILLION EGG-FARM gives the methods by which J. M. Foster made over $48 000 a year net profit from eggs. All chicken raisers should learn about the Rural Egg Unit and how Foster FREDS hens to produce such quantities of eggs especially in winter.

DRESSMAKING SELF-TAUGHT shows how any intelligent woman can design and make her own clothes in the height of fashion. The author has done it and so she was a girl. She now has a successful dressmaking establishment and a school of dressmaking. Illustrated with diagrams.

SHALL I FARM? is a clear impartial statement of both advantages and drawbacks of farming to help those who have to decide the important question. It warns to all the gold swindles and mistakes, tells how to start, equipment needed, its cost, chances of success, how to get government aid, etc.

These booklets are 6 x 9 inches and profusely illustrated

What Our Folks Say About F. J.

"I have had more help, encouragement and enjoyment out of it in one year than I did out of my other papers in ten years," says C. M. Persons.

"It is a queer little paper. I have sometimes read it through and thought I was done with it, then pick it up again and find something new to interest me," says Alfred Krogh.

"Farm Journal is like a bit of sunshine in our home. It is making a better class of people out of farmers. It was first sent me as a Christmas present, and I think it the choicest present I ever received," says P. R. LeValley.

"We have read your dear little paper for nearly 40 years. Now we don't live on the farm any more yet I still have a hankering for the old paper. I feel that I belong to the family, and every page is as dear and familiar as the faces of old friends," says Mrs. B. W. Edwards.

"I fear I neglect my business to read it. I wish it could be in the hands of every farmer in Virginia," says W. S. Cline.

"I live in a town where the yard is only 15 x 18 feet, but I could not do without the Farm Journal," says Miss Sara Carpenter.

"I get lots of books and papers, and put them aside for future reading. The only paper I seem to have in my hands all the time is Farm Journal. I can't finish reading it. Can't you make it less interesting, so I can have a chance at my other papers?" writes John Swail.

"If I am lonesome, down-hearted, or tired, I go to Farm Journal for comfort, next to the Bible," says Mabel Dewitt.

"Farm Journal has a cheerful vein running through it that makes it a splendid cure for the blues." When coming home tired in mind and body, I sit down and read it, and it seems to give me new inspiration for life," writes C. E. Halderman.

"We have a brother-in-law who loves a joke. We live in Greater New York, and consider ourselves quite cultured so when he sent us the Farm Journal as a New Year's gift we nearly died laughing. How to raise hogs—we who only use bacon in glass jars! How to keep cows clean—when we use condensed milk even for rice pudding! How to plant onions—when we never plant anything more fragrant than lilies of the valley. I accepted the gift with thanks for we are too well bred to look a gift horse in the mouth. Soon my ire was caught by a beautiful poem. I began to read it, then when I wanted the Farm Journal I found my husband deeply interested in an article. Then my oldest son began to ask, Has the Farm Journal come yet?" He is a jeweler and hasn't much time for literature but we find so much interest and uplift in this fine paper that we appreciate our New Year's gift more and more," writes Ella B. Burkman.

"I received 'Corn Secrets' and 'Poultry Secrets' and consider them worth their weight in gold," says W. G. Newall.

"What your Egg Book tells would take a beginner years to learn," says Roy Chaney.

"Duck Dollars is the best book I ever had on duck-raising," says F. M. Warnock.

"If your other booklets contain as much valuable information as the Egg Book I would consider them cheap at double the price," says F. W. Mansfield.

"I think your Egg-Book is a wonder," says C. P. Shirey.

"The Farm Journal beats them all. Every issue has reminders and ideas worth a year's subscription," writes T. H. Potter.

"One year ago I took another agricultural paper, and it took a whole column to tell what Farm Journal tells in one paragraph," says N. M. Gladwin.

"I ought to be in every home where there is a chick, a child, a cow, a cherry, or a cucumber," says I. D. Bordus.

THE EYES IN RELATION TO GENERAL HEALTH

Underlying certain symptoms of eye trouble may be grave disturbances of the general health of men and women. A searching and accurate examination will reveal to the eye of a trained optometrist what the causes are. Glasses may not be needed at all in some cases; while in others the proper glasses may cure headaches and nerve strain. I make a specialty of the use of the opthalmoscope, having acquired a thorough practical and technical knowledge of its application. For consultation call any day.

FLOOD OF BILLS FOR LEGISLATURE

Mass of Legislation Prepared for Presentation and Long Session Predicted.

By ROBERT HAIGHT.

Harrisburg, Jan. 21.

The Pennsylvania Legislature is still experiencing great difficulty in getting down to the real work of law making owing to the delay over the appointment of the standing committees and the adoption of the new rules as authorized under the new method adopted at the organization of the house. So far the session has had little or no difficulty in getting under way but it cannot begin until the popular branch has started the actual work, and it will probably be a week or more before the standing committees of the respective houses are properly organized and ready for the consideration of bills.

Every sign at the present writing points to the fact that the session will be an unusually long one and old observers are of the opinion that it will be well into the month of June before a final adjournment can be effected. A tremendous mass of legislation has been prepared, the introduction and almost much more is still in preparation and almost every subject imaginable will be taken before the members can get their way clear to begin the weeding out process. Public hearings by the committees on the different proposed legislation will be held as early a date as possible so that the legislators can be brought face to face with them before bills can be placed before the membership as a whole for final consideration, but it will undoubtedly take several weeks before this can be accomplished. The acute drawing of the factional lines over the speakership battle has not yet died away and there are some unruly rumblings and of coming alliances both offensive and defensive, that do not look well for the active and prompt consideration of bills and reports of committees.

Another drawback lies in the fact that the members presiding officers have not had time to familiarize themselves with the full import of the new order of things and the exact meaning of the rules. It will therefore be but natural for the presiding officers to be at times and inaccurately as to the kinks as they arise and as the fact is a task, as the members are to look to the presiding officers to guide them and their rulings of the present session must stand as precedents for the future. It is seen that during the recess every individual has been working overtime, individual bills which he thinks would be beneficial to his constituents and the state at large, and this accounts for the congestion in the hoppers of the clerks.

Probably one of the most important bills to the business men of the state that will come before the legislature is the one providing for the repeal of the mercantile tax laws which have long been regarded by the tradespeople as being unfair and pernicious. Attempts have been made in almost every session of the legislature to do away with this form of taxation ever since it became operative but each time the political pressure was so strong on the members that it fell by the wayside. This time the friends of the repeal are banking on the fact that the present legislature is more independently inclined that it will at last heed the appeals of the merchants and wipe out this law. The present agitation gets its real impetus from the business associations of Allegheny county which has addressed a memorial to the committees on revision of taxation authorized by the last legislature. This body is asked to recommend to the legislature that this form of taxation be repealed on the ground that it is an unjust, inequitable and irregular form of taxation for the reason that it is directed against a certain class of business men of the state while the manufacturer, the farmer, the engineer, the subcontractor or the lawyer, etc., are exempt from the business tax. The argument is that the capital invested in business are taxed, regardless of profits which is claimed to be unfair as some merchants make little business on a small margin of profit which operates to the benefit of the community.

Aiding Widows and Abandoned Mothers.

State Senator John O. Sheats, of Philadelphia, has prepared a bill for introduction at an early date providing moneys to indigent, widowed and abandoned mothers for partial support of their children in their own homes. The measure is made applicable to cities of the first, second and third class throughout Pennsylvania and proposes a state appropriation for maintenance of such homes in a sum equal to the aggregate. The bill suggests the repeal of all laws inconsistent with its provisions, which would override the act of 1907 which it was proposed would make it impossible for the counties to pay for the support of dependent children at their homes instead of in state institutions.

It further provides that the governor shall appoint not less than five nor more than seven women residents of the first, second and third class cities to carry into effect the provisions of the act. To meet the appropriation by the state which $30,000 shall be annually, cities of the first class $20,000, cities of the second class $5,000 to be divided among cities of the third class, by the auditor general and state treasurer, according to the respective populations. The payments to be made to such indigent children would be made to the mothers by the state treasurer in warrants to be drawn by the auditor general.

It is said that in many cases may be provided for by the appointment of probation officers, made until the true parents of the children signify themselves that in the opinion of the court a monthly payment in addition to the only upon reports from the agents of the district school stating that the children are attending school and that the case is in a deserving and worthy one. It is in cases where the parents are not in reasonable circumstances to further provide that in cities of the first class the sum of $3000 may be used for administration headquarters and the salary of an investigator or stenographer (where necessary), $1,400 for the second class, $1,200 for cities of the third class, and $800 for each year, when an additional $500 is allowed.

To Improve State Charities.

Notwithstanding the fact that Governor Tener to the legislature recommends that no public charity is established, and the fact that the present year's appropriations for charitable institutions are $1,500,000 more than the appropriations for the year 1907, which is the largest appropriation ever made for charitable institutions in any one year, the legislature is expected to make a liberal appropriation for the improvement of the state charitable institutions. The bill providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the charitable institutions of the state, which was introduced in the last session of the legislature, will be reintroduced in the present session. The commission will be composed of three members, who will be appointed by the governor, and will serve without pay. The commission will investigate the charitable institutions of the state, and will report to the governor, who will submit the report to the legislature. The commission will be empowered to employ a secretary and a stenographer, and will have the power to send for persons and papers. The bill will be introduced in the senate by Senator Penrose, and in the house by Representative Hall, of Allegheny county.
